President's Message

I am very excited about this meeting as we are testing a new format. Instead of lunch we will be having breakfast, complete with a chef at an omelet station. The breakfast will be served from 9-11 while the other meeting activities will be on-going as usual in other rooms. Please check the timing of the events as they are a little different than usual. We will be anxiously looking at attendance numbers and feedback from members to see if this may be a viable format for future meetings. If you think this may be a good idea, please come out and support the meeting by your attendance (and let a council member know).

Also, at the suggestion of member Gary Ewing, we are having a tour of the famous Cheney Wells Clock Gallery at Old Sturbridge Village. The tour is limited and is first come first serve so, if you want to attend, please see the enclosed meeting registration form and check off the appropriate line. If paying by PayPal, state so in the "Add a Note" box located under the payment amount that you want to attend the tour.

WORKSHOPS AND PROGRAMS

9:15 AM. “Restoration of an 1872 E. Howard Tower Clock.” Chapter 8 members Ray Christian and Peter Nunes recently led a team of volunteers in restoring an early E. Howard & Co. tower clock, a Model 1, at the Peace Dale Congregational Church in South Kingstown, RI. This year, the clock marks its 145th anniversary since its original 1872 installation in the steeple at the time of the building’s commissioning. The story of the restoration includes some interesting repair discoveries, challenges, and community interest in tower clock horology. The project was an excellent example of collaboration between experienced and beginner Chapter 8 clock smiths in mentoring knowledge and skills. Ray, a recently retired Navy physicist, has been a Chapter 8 member since 2012. Peter has had an antique clock restoration business since 1971, and is a former Chapter 8 President and Cog Counter’s (Chapter 194) Chairman, and has recently been named a Fellow in the NAWCC.

10:15 AM. “The Naeshke and Sattler Clocks as currently made in Germany.” This talk, by Jon Weber, describes the products, fabrication and design methods, business model and products of these two makers of very fine clocks, based on a recent visit. Also, he will describe the performance of a Sattler clock that he owns and has run for several years. Matthias Naeshke is a highly skilled clockmaker and technical designer. He started in 1984 in his small shop in his home: his clock production is miniscule by commercial standards. For nearly sixty years, Erwin Sattler has been delivering the highest standards of quality and has been developing and making limited, quality timepieces, and are considered as among the best in the world. Jon Weber is a retired aerospace engineer with a degree in physics, a member of several NAWCC Chapters and the Antiquarian Horological Society. He is currently apprenticing with the Carrigan Watch Company.

9:00 to 11:00 AM. Breakfast (for this meeting)

11:30 AM. A one hour guided tour of the famous Cheney Wells Clock Gallery at Old Sturbridge Village. The J. Cheney Wells Clock Gallery was opened in 1982 to house the Village’s extensive collection of early New England timepieces. Joel Cheney Wells was an avid clock collector who, along with his brother Albert Bachellor Wells, were the founders of what became Old Sturbridge Village. The exhibit contains dozens of clocks including many tallcase clocks. Visitors enjoy being in the gallery on the hour to listen to these antique clocks strike the hour.

Note: This tour is limited 40 registrants on a first come-first served basis. This tour is of the clock gallery only and does not include the entire museum. Members can purchase a discounted admission to the Village at the guests’ group rate of $10.00 pp to visit the entire museum.
